

Intelligent Automation Cloud Express and Business Editions

At WorkFusion, we're committed to building innovative and robust software that lets companies like yours automate data-centric work and generate maximum business value.

To accomplish this, we're always seeking to optimize our products to best serve our customers.

In that context, we have decided to sunset our Intelligent Automation Cloud Express and Business Editions and will be seeking to transition all Business Edition customers to our top-rated Enterprise Edition. We hope you've found these tools useful, and they have helped you explore automation and create value for customers.

For Intelligent Automation Cloud Business user guides and other related materials, visit Business Edition documentation.

As it is WorkFusion's mission to help the world's transition to more meaningful work, we also hope your automation journey will continue!

If you have an active subscription to Business Edition, you will be (or have been) contacted by your WorkFusion account manager with all the needed details and renewal options.

On a related note, we wish to update you on our plans and focus going forward.

After extensive research and consultation with our customers, advisors, and the industry's brightest minds, we have come to the conclusion that enterprise automation solutions which address specific industry challenges are the most effective way to deploy Intelligent Automation for the best outcomes.

You can discover many of these industry automation solutions at start.workfusion.com.

We appreciate your understanding and look forward to continuing our partnership, and to helping your organization derive maximum value from Intelligent Automation.
